MASCHKE PLEADS NOT GUILTY

'HERN OHIO GE TO HEAR RBIN TRIAL

David T. Thomas of Marietta Appointed by Justice Marshall.

CASE OPENS MONDAY

State's Witness List Includes Clarence Brown, Grover Fleming.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, July 30—Common Pleas Judge David H. Thomas of Marietta, Washington county, has been appointed by Chief Justice Carrington T. Marshall to preside at the trial Monday in Bucyrus of William W. Durbin of Kenton, charged with circulating unsigned election literature.

Announcement of the appointment was received this morning by Carl Young, clerk of the Crawford county courts.

Preparations for the trial of Durbin, Democratic state central committeeman, were practically complete today with the appointment of Judge Thomas to succeed Judge C. U. Ahl, who stepped aside Friday to permit another judge to preside at the trial. Durbin previously had complained that the political interests of Judge Ahl and Charles F. Schaber, who brought the charge against Durbin, might prejudice Judge Ahl in the case.

Brown, Fleming Witnesses

Prosecutor J. D. Sears has subpoened 30 witnesses to testify for the state in Durbin's trial. Clarence J. Brown, secretary of state, and Grover Fleming, publisher of the Ohio Examiner, are among them. Durbin's witnesses had not been subpoenaed this morning.

State's witnesses who have been subpoenaed in addition to Brown and Fleming, are Monica Dick, Patricia Resch, Margaret Nolan, Helen Quinn and Madeline Durbin, Loretta Nolan, Maxine Sherman, Emma Gerling, Emma McNally, Mary Margaret Powers, Miss Poling, all of Kenton; Charles Gerish of Columbus, E. J. Showe, E. E. Batchelt and Thomas Mahon of the Scioto Sign Co. of Kenton; R. O. Perrott, clerk of the Crawford county board of elections; Bud Lawson, clerk of the Marion county board of elections; Joe A. Klinefelter, Aaron Shealy, C. L. Spriggs and G. Goldsmith, all of Crawford county; George W. Cook of Marion; Mae Kloepfer, L. C. Hauser, Frank Cook, Tony Beckner, John Robinson, W. E. Arnold.

Two Under Indictment

Durbin recently was indicted by the Crawford county grand jury on a count charging circulation of

AMERICA CAPTURES DAVIS CUP DOUBLES

Van Ryn, Allison Rally To Beat Cochet, Brugnon in Blistering Match.

By The Associated Press

STADE ROLAND GARROS, PARIS, July 30—The United States today won the doubles match from France in their Davis cup final to make the match score two to one in France's favor and leave the American youngsters a fighting chance for victory.

The scores were 6-3, 11-13, 7-5, 4-6, 6-4.

John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, the American team, rallied from almost certain defeat in the final set to overpower Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon, the French veterans, with a blistering net attack.

Ten thousand persons were massed in the stands, including American Ambassador Walter Edge and Dwight Davis, donor of the international tennis trophy, and the final points were played in an electric atmosphere with the crowds maintaining a semblance of composure only with difficulty.

A victory for France would have ended the series. Now the Americans have a fighting chance but must sweep both singles tomorrow, Allison against Jean Borotra and Ellsworth Vines, Jr., against Cochet.

WEATHER TO VARY

10th Olympiad Launched With Colorful Ceremony

BY PAUL ZIMMERMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 30—The flower of the world's athletic strength was on parade today.

Mobilized from 39 nations, the athletes will pass in review before a great mass of cosmopolitan humanity, heads high and flags waving, marching into the games of the tenth Olympiad.

Sixteen words will be spoken by Charles Curtis, vice president of the United States — "I proclaim open the Olympic games of Los Angeles, celebrating the tenth Olympiad of the modern era."

A fanfare of trumpets, a thousand choral voices in song accompanied by a 2,000-piece band; reverberation of a 20 cannon salute; 2,000 doves on wing and the Olympic torch blazing above the peristyle—these form the setting for the opening of the classic games born in ancient Greece.

Vice President Curtis will be received by Count Henri de Baillet-Latour, president of the international olympic committee and William May Garland, president of the Olympiads committee at the peristyle entrance at 5:20 p. m. (Marion time).

Led by the athletes of Greece, whose forebears gathered on the plains of elis in 884 B. C., for the first Olympiad, the parade of nations will move under way, marching in military formation into the huge bowl.

One hushed minute, and then, in behalf of President Hoover, Mr. Curtis will pronounce the games officially open for the 16-day program.

The dedication address and the benediction will be spoken by Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul, president of the University of California.

RETURNING VETS DUE AT OHIO LINE TODAY

White Acts To Aid 2,135 Across State to Indiana Border.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 30—The governor of West Virginia today notified Governor George White that West Virginia would deliver to the Ohio border at Wheeling 2,135 homeward bound bonus marchers this afternoon.

Governor White had previously announced the state would aid the marchers across the state if they were on their way home, but was unwilling to assist any of the new contingents heading toward Washington.

The West Virginia governor said that 1,635 of this number would be at Wheeling at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon and that a second group of 500 would be there a half hour later.

They will enter Ohio at Martins Ferry.

Governor White immediately got in touch with Adjutant General Frank D. Henderson at Camp Perry and plans were made to transport the veterans to the Indiana border.

Ohio's reaction to the plight of the bonus "army," ousted from Washington, was revealed today as a mixture of conflicting sentiments.

The general trend of comment seemed to show most Ohioans possessing a feeling of sympathy for the veterans together with a belief that the firm stand taken by President Hoover was necessary under the circumstances. This attitude also was generally expressed in the editorials of Ohio newspapers.

Officials at the national military home in Dayton, displayed a contrasting attitude. These officials said no welcome mats will be out at the home for those of the marchers who recently left the home and who now may want to return. The former inmates will not be readmitted unless a new physical examination again shows them 25 per cent disabled.

GERMANY AT TURNING POINT

Nation's Voters Will Choose Political Future at Polls Sunday.

BLOODY CAMPAIGN ENDS

Present Democracy at Stake as Numerous Parties Battle for Control.

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, July 30 — More than 37,000,000 German voters sharpened contemplative pencils today to mark, at the voting booths tomorrow, their final decision on the bloodiest and noisiest election campaign in the history of the Reich.

The question was whether Germany will go to the right or the left.

"On the right was the luring voice of Adolf Hitler, the former Austrian army corporal and paperhanger, with his threat that "heads would roll" and his demand for an end of the democracy.

There was Alfred Hugenberg, the old-time nationalist leader, with his call for a return of the kaiser and the re-establishment of the monarchy, and there was the power of the present government of Chancellor Franz Von Papen and the noted junker and former soldier, General Kurt Von Schleicher.

Capitalism Flayed

On the left were the German Socialists, chief support of the Republican constitution and, still further left-ward, the Communist power under Ernst Thaelmann, who is back on the Hamburg docks with his board of strategy, in the shadow of the towering masts of thousands of tons of idle German ships, demanding the end of capitalism and an alliance with the ideals of Soviet Russia.

The voter has 8,000 candidates from whom to select 582 new members of the reichstag.

Democrats Using "Demagogic Appeals," Sen. Dickinson Charges in Speech.

CHICAGO, July 30—Senator L. J. EVICTED BONUS ARMY NOW IN JOHNSTOWN, PA.

Veterans Call Commander-in-Chief as Citizens Show Hostility.

MORE THAN 1,000 IN CITY

Tear Gas Bombs Aid General Exodus of Marchers from Capital.

By The Associated Press

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 30 — Faced with a rising tide of hostility from Johnstown's citizenry, staff leaders of the "bonus army" retreating from Washington, today telephoned W. W. Waters, commander-in-chief, and asked him to come here at once from Washington to aid in handling the situation.

Meanwhile, tattered and hungry veterans, forced to flee the capital at the point of army bayonets, continue to trickle into this city of steel. Already there are more than a thousand here and the mountains are reported to be honeycombed with others. Many of them are in an ugly mood.

To devise means of coping with the situation, Captain Doak A. Carter, chief of staff, called a conference of his aides this morning. After the meeting, Carter telephoned Waters and told him an airplane is being sent immediately to bring him to Johnstown.

Waters was told that the situation required his presence.

Meanwhile, across the state Pennsylvania highway trucks carried hundreds of veterans, many of them bound for Johnstown.

Transport stations have been set up at Gettysburg, McConnellsburg and Ligonier.

State police and highway patrolman are accompanying the groups which are being relayed at the transport stations. Veterans will be moved to the Ohio line through Greensburg.

While the exodus from Washington is being made by thousands, other small groups are enroute eastward to join those remaining. One group of 45 from Canton, Akron, Cleveland and East Liverpool, O., spent the night in Washington, Pa. Their leader, C. H. Collins of Cleveland asserted treatment given veterans in Washington would not halt him and his band.

101st Milestone Close for Woman Near Richwood

Mrs. Elizabeth C. Cox of six miles west of Richwood in Union county Monday will celebrate her one-hundred-first birthday anniversary.

Union county's oldest resident will be joined by her "children," Mrs. David Phelps, 66 of Richwood, Mrs. Butler Jackson, 61 of York Center, and J. T. Cox, 59, at home to celebrate the occasion, according to present plans.

Although able to be about her home, she does not attempt to do any housework, her condition having been weakened by a recent illness.

She never has ridden in an automobile and for 20 years has not visited nearby villages or cities. She is a native of Harrison county.

HOOVER SEEKS SPEEDY RELIEF

HARRISON SCORES DELAY

Mississippi Senator Assails Administration for Failure To Act Sooner.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 30—The administration sought speed today in carrying out an elaborated rehabilitation program involving some things a Democratic spokesman insisted should have been proposed to congress earlier than "two years after the economy collapse."

President Hoover himself made the nine-point proposal public.

It includes plans for replacement of slum districts, expansion of credit facilities, stimulation of railway maintenance and repair work, broadening of livestock and feeder loans, faster movement of agricultural commodities, shorter working hours, swift organization of the home loan bank system, construction of self-liquidating projects and "other avenues of cooperation between the government in aid to public and private agencies."

Many of these things would be done through the new $3,800,000,000 Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Administration Scored

In a radio address prepared before the Hoover announcement, but nevertheless covering some of the same subjects, Senator Harrison of Mississippi opened the Democratic campaign over the air with a statement that relief legislation enacted by congress "was woven and lined with Democratic thought."

"The first intimation that President Hoover had a program for our economic recovery was in October, 1931," Harrison said. "It required two long years for the administration to present even that plan and now he is glorified for it only by his own cabinet who are equally responsible for the inaction, procrastination and uncertainty of this administration to meet courageously and promptly these pressing problems."

The senator said further that numerous statements issued by administration leaders after the stock market fall had "deceived and misled the public." He called his party's nominees—Franklin D. Roosevelt and John N. Garner—[illegible]

DEMANDS THAT TRIAL BE HELD IMMEDIATELY

Cleveland Political Leader Arraigned on Treasury Theft Charge.

CALLS ACCUSATIONS FALSE

Four Others Indicted in Probe of Huge Shortage Also Plead Not Guilty.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, July 30—Maurice Maschke, Republican county leader, and four others today entered pleas of not guilty to charges of embezzlement and larceny in connection with Cuyahoga county's treasury deficit of $570,382.

Maschke, accused of aiding and abetting embezzlement of $140,000 from the treasury and larceny on the same money, was released under $20,000 bond.

Carmi Thompson, prominent Republican, appeared to sign the bond, but when he said he had no abstract for real estate he was to post, Maschke furnished a surety bond.

The others who pleaded not guilty were Council Herman H. Finkle, a powerful Republican ward leader; Henry A. Beckerman, associate of Maschke; H. H. Felsman, Beckerman's law partner, and Charles Bernstein, insurance and real estate operator. All but Finkle were released on $20,000 bond. Finkle provided bail of $10,000.

Alex Bernstein, former chief deputy treasurer and half brother of Charles, was ill at his home and was not expected to be arraigned before Monday. Joseph F. Lange, discharged deputy treasurer and the seventh man indicted, did not appear.

Wants Speedy Trial

Maschke, angry and flushed as he stood before Judge Frederick P. Walther, demanded an immediate trial.

It seems to me the circumstance surrounding this case are of grave interest to the community and transcend the order of the court. I demand an immediate trial. It is not fair of the prosecutor to deny us that right."

The indictments, returned yesterday, charged Alex Bernstein with embezzling $140,000 and $37,273, and named Maschke, Finkle, Beckerman, Felsman and Charles Bernstein as aiders and abettors. Lange was charged with forging a personal tax bill stub for $225 and with embezzlement of $2,097.

If convicted, the men will face prison terms of one to 20 years.

Denials Issued

Vigorous denials of the charges were issued last night by Maschke, Finkle, Beckerman and Felsman. The other three could not be reached.

Maschke said the charge against him was "untrue and malicious, and absolutely without foundation of fact." He asked the community to "reserve judgment," and demanded an immediate trial.

Common Pleas Judge Frederick P. Walther said he believed the trial would be set for the September term of court.

FARM TRACT SALE IS RECORDED HERE

One of the biggest real estate transactions in point of acreage in Marion county in recent years was recorded Friday when a deed transferring title of 530 acres in Salt Rock township from Mrs. Betty Alexander of Sidell, Ill., to Charles N. Brown of Columbus was filed with Charles A. Markert, county recorder.

The deed was drawn Feb. 3, 1932. A $55,000 mortgage on the property was assumed by the purchaser.

GRAINS SHOW LITTLE CHANGE

Report of Wheat Crop Shortage Fails To Send Prices Upward.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 30—Abatement of speculative interest accompanied a narrowing of price changes in wheat today, and the market developed no definite trend.

Reports suggesting that the 1932 United States out turn of all wheat would be somewhat below trade expectations and 38,000,000 bushels under the government figures of July 1 had no lasting effect, and neither did absence of rains in Canada or likelihood of a return of high temperatures. Late firmness of the stock market was a steadying influence.

Wheat closed irregular ⅛ lower to ⅛ up compared with yesterday's finish, corn at ⅛ decline to ⅛@¼ advance, oats changed to ⅛@⅛ off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5 cents.

Marion County Woman Establishes Goat Dairy as New Business Venture

Setbacks through adverse circumstances in three attempts to raise animals at a profit on her three-acre farm just south of Big Island, west of here, have not discouraged Miss Hazel Ault, who now appears to be on the way to success through the operation of a goat dairy.

Unassisted, she operates the only goat dairy in the county, serving more than a score of customers in Marion with milk from her flock of 14 goats.

Three previous efforts of Miss Ault during the last three years to build up a business with animals met little success. When she attempted to raise silver foxes three years ago, starting her pens with four pairs, the foxes failed to reproduce fast enough to permit her to operate at a profit. A year later she sold some of the foxes and traded some for muskrats to raise for pelts. Muskrats did not thrive in her pens, so she freed them and made a third effort with Raisinbrook white rabbits. The hares contracted illnesses and a few months ago she gave up rabbits.

Starts Goat Dairy

At that time she had three goats, and was using the milk from these animals. While doing part time nursing work, she sold some of the milk to patients suffering from stomach ailments, and gradually created a demand for goats milk.

Two months ago, she decided to establish a goat dairy. She enlarged the flock and began making daily deliveries of milk to a few customers in the city. Since that time, the number of customers has grown steadily. She has visions of a 30-goat dairy by next year.

Repeated attacks of influenza drove Miss Ault from a career of public health work after she had become a registered nurse at University hospital in Columbus, and had taken university training in health work at Western Reserve university in Cleveland. She located on her three-acre farm west of here after retiring from public health work.

Her unfortunate experiences with foxes, muskrats and rabbits, together with the cost of building her small but complete home on the farm tract nearly exhausted her resources. After three years of a work under difficulties, she is decidedly encouraged by the growth of her newest enterprise.

She has equipped her small dairy with a cooling house and other necessary equipment, and does all of the work herself from milking the goats and preparing the milk for delivery to making the daily deliveries in her automobile to customers.

Work Keeps Her Busy

When delivering milk, she packs the bottles in ice in a large tin container which her father, Oscar Ault of near Worthington, used 35 years ago to deliver milk to customers in Worthington.

Her only companions on her small "farm" besides the goats are "Wiggle," a rat terrier, and "Puson," a striped cat. "Lonely? Why, yes, I was lonely until the goat dairy started keeping me so busy I don't get time to be lonely," she said. Her daily trips to deliver milk also give her an opportunity to visit with people.

Her father, a retired farmer, still lives near Worthington. She has seven brothers and sisters: H. W. Ault of Sycamore, Kans., C. L. Ault of New Albany, O., E. D. Ault of Lovington, N. Mex., Mrs. A. K. Williams of Ostrander, O., Mrs. Roy G. Tilden of Detroit, Mich., Mrs. N. B. King of Columbus, and Miss Thirza Ault of Rochester, N. Y. She was born near Worthington, in Franklin county.

Big Yield Is Expected from Municipal Garden

With an expression similar to that which adorns the face of a man when he views the result of a job well done, Safety Director Emery Murphy, yesterday looked over the broad acres of the municipal garden on Windsor street on the occasion of a visit to the garden by Mayor W. C. Phillians and the director.

Long rows of potatoes, beans, cabbage, tomatoes and corn stretch from Windsor street west for more than an eighth of a mile. The recent rains have been of great value to the growing vegetables and with a continuation of favorable weather a bumper crop is expected. With sufficient rain, the safety director estimated the garden would yield between 1,500 and 2,000 bushels of potatoes. An equally satisfactory crop of beans and tomatoes is anticipated.

The plot which consists of 20 acres, was donated for a municipal garden by Common Pleas Judge George B. Scofield early in the spring. The Chamber of Commerce helped in obtaining the seed and the planting and cultivating was done by unemployed men under the direction of Safety Director Murphy. Donated seed did not meet the requirements and additional potatoes, beans, cabbage and tomato plans were purchased by the city.

Just how the proceeds from the garden will be handled has not yet been definitely decided, the safety director said. When the crops are harvested they will be placed in a convenient storage but whether or not a municipal commissary will be established has not yet been decided.

Gentlemen, Be Seated! Old Elks Minstrel Bill Is Unearthed Here

Attention Marion! The Elks first annual benefit minstrel will be held at the Music hall on Thursday evening, May 19, A. D. 1887.

At 8 p. m. on May 19, just 45 years ago, prominent Marion men were fully costumed and ready to take their places on the stage of the Music hall. It was to be no small affair, either, as eight end men, two interlocutors, and a chorus and ballet of 20 had been selected to furnish the entertainment, while two orchestras were ready to take care of the musical end of the show.

It was not like a circus of today, where a charge of 75 cents in addition to the general price must be met if the patron desires a reserved seat, for the Elks set their admission price at 50 cents with a guarantee of "no extra charge for reserved seats." Tickets were on sale at Tristan & Young's shoe store located on North Main street. The curtain was scheduled to rise at 8 with a promise to "stay up as long as any of the audience remain."

All these facts were revealed in a giant folder unearthed by Morris Lederman, cousin of Charles Lederman who was the first exalted ruler of the Marion lodge. On the two inside pages of the folder, as well as on the back, appeared comic drawings of each of the 52 men who were to take part in the show. From this entire group only five are alive today. These remaining members are Arthur Bryant, Fred Haberman, S. G. Kleinmaier, Dr. A. Rhu and Ben Waples. Mr. Waples was the first secretary of the Marion lodge.

Essential To Boost Commodity Values, Is Concensus at Ottawa; Canada, Britain Wheat Preference Pact Reported.

By The Associated Press

OTTAWA, July 30—A general agreement that the most necessary task of the imperial trade conference is to boost the general price levels of basic commodities pervaded every special committee today.

The committee's announcement financial questions brought the question to a head after 24 hours of talk. As long as it takes twice as much of any commodity to pay off a debt as it did when the debt was contracted, the committee decided, there could be no basic stability of money, trade or tariffs or any attempt to equalize values.

The committees announcement came almost simultaneously with reports that Canada and Great Britain were believed to have agreed in principle on a wheat preference plan.

Supposed Details Published

One Ottawa newspaper definitely announced that the Canadian government had demanded a preference tariff rate of four cents a bushel in British markets and that it would make no deals at all unless it got it.

Those who are opposed to the preference plan expressed the belief that it was hard to imagine Great Britain paying more for wheat than it could be bought for in the open markets of the world.

There was no indication that the monetary committee had a wheat preference in mind in discussing the necessity of boosting commodity prices to stabilize financial conditions. In the United States during the last session of congress the question of higher commodity prices was associated with currency inflation and deflation of gold.

There also were reports that Great Britain would ask Canada to reduce approximately one-third her present duties on cotton and cotton cloth, the British preferential on woolen and worsted cloths, one-third, and demand free entry or further preferences on chemicals imported from foreign countries and on electrical equipment, machinery, porcelain ware and coal.

Coal Supply Inadequate

American interests considered, however, that it is unlikely Canada could afford to increase the price of American anthracite in a country which needs stove fuel so many months in the year and which thus far is getting from the Welsh mines only enough to supply a portion of the Atlantic seaboard.

Of all the definite developments, the chief concern of the United States was over the approaching bilateral trade agreement between Canada and South Africa. Last year American sales in South Africa amounted to $45,000,000 against $6,000,000 of purchases.

The proposed preference for Canadian products involves possible loss of the market for American lumber, automobiles, electrical equipment and agricultural machinery.

ROOSEVELT TO TALK TONIGHT

First Campaign Talk Scheduled; August Plans Announced.

By The Associated Press

ALBANY, N. Y., July 30 — Governor Roosevelt put the finishing touches today to his campaign plans after receiving from James A. Farley, the Democratic national chairman, an optimistic report that Roosevelt sentiment "is growing in all sections."

The governor makes his first campaign talk tonight at 9, Eastern Standard time.

Concluding a conference with the Democratic presidential candidate last night, Farley declared that "there is not a state in the union that we concede to the Republican candidates."

Farley and Roosevelt met at the executive mansion with Louis M. Howe, the governor's veteran political lieutenant, and the New York secretary of state, Edward J. Flynn. A tentative itinerary for the governor's speaking tour, which opens Aug. 20 at Columbus, O., was discussed, but the only announcement was that Secretary of State Flynn would tour with Mr. Roosevelt. Flynn is a Roosevelt leader in the Bronx.

The Roosevelt campaign picture was virtually complete after last night's meeting, with its announcement that "important assignments" in the campaign committee are promised soon. One of these will be the campaign treasurer.

High spots in the immediate campaign picture include the radio speech tonight and a promised "announcement" Monday by Governor Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts, who is expected to pledge his support to Roosevelt and John N. Garner, the vice presidential nominee.

Early in August Garner plans to come to Albany. On Aug. 20 Roosevelt leaves for his first major speaking engagement at Columbus. A week later he speaks again at Sea Girt, N. J. On Sept. 3 he speaks at Schenectady, N. Y., and Bridgeport, Conn.

Plans for the rest of the tour include a projected swing across the nation.

MAYOR TO OPEN BAND CONCERT

A short talk by Mayor W. C. Phillians will open the band concert tonight at 7 at the courthouse. [illegible]

TWO SUITS ASK $45,000 TOTAL

Separate Accidents Causing Two Deaths Basis of Morrow County Actions.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, July 30 — Mrs Beulah M. Bending of Mt. Gilead, administratrix of the estate of William Maxwell Foreman, has filed suit in common pleas court for $25,000 as a result of the death of her brother in an automobile collision six miles north of Mt. Gilead on May 22, 1932.

E. G. Buschsieb Inc., owner of the truck which struck the car in which Foreman was riding, and Eugene Cox owner of the car in which he was riding are named defendants in the suit. With two others, Foreman was riding in the Cox car enroute to Galion from their home in Cardington and as they went over the top of a hill they collided head-on with the truck which was attempting to pass a car going up the hill. Foreman was thrown out on the concrete pavement and died two days later at a Marion hospital.

The damage suit was brought, the petition states, on behalf of Mrs. Bending, and other members of the family who are the youth's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Foreman, formerly residents of Cardington and now living in Mt. Gilead, and a brother Clifford. The petition alleges that both the driver of the truck and the driver of the car in which Foreman was riding were negligent and driving at an excessive speed.

Suit Asks $20,000

Harry J. Johnson, administrator of the estate of Mrs. Ruth M. Johnson has filed suit in the common pleas court for $20,000 damages as the result of Mrs. Johnson's death from injuries allegedly suffered in an automobile collision at the intersection of the Harding highway and the Mt. Gilead-Galion road 10 miles north of Mt. Gilead. Mervin W. Ritzhaupt, driver of the car which collided with the Johnson automobile was named defendant in the suit.

Mrs. Johnson was injured Sept. 21, 1930, and died April 26, 1932, the petition alleging that she never recovered from the injuries and that she had spent most of the intervening time in hospitals and under medical care.

The claim for damages is based on the contention of Johnson that Ritzhaupt was driving at an excessive rate of speed and negligently considering the dangerous character of the road at the place the collision occurred. The petition was filed through the law firm of Carhart, Warner and Carhart of Marion.

The funeral will be conducted Monday at 2 p. m. at the Baptist church, in charge of Rev. John Middlemiss. Burial will be made in the Prospect cemetery. Friends may view the body at the home of his son, Leonard Ruhl.

DENIES CHARGE OF SHOOTING TO KILL

Principal in Alleged "Grudge Attack" Held Under Bond.

BUCYRUS, July 30 — George Simms, 69, who ended a three-year-old grudge several weeks ago when he allegedly shot and wounded Charles Martin, pleaded not guilty to a charge of shooting with intent to kill when he was arraigned before Mayor Arthur Schuler Friday. Martin was returned to the county jail when he was unable to furnish $1,000 bond.

Martin was slightly injured when one of the shots, allegedly fired after the assailant had vowed over three years ago to "get" Martin, struck him in the cheek.

Both men were following the "open road" when they chanced to meet at a "bum's" camp east of here, where the shooting occured.

Trucks owned and operated in the state of Ohio, engaged in intercity traffic are under the jurisdiction of the Ohio public utilities commission, each cargo being insured and each vehicle carries liability insurance. Goods for shipment long distances by freight are carefully packed and crated.

The offices and warehouse of this transfer company are located at 126 Oak street where safe storage is provided for household goods and merchandise. On receipt of goods each piece is properly listed and necessary protection afforded. Those who inspect the storage space are impressed with its cleanliness, its dryness and its systematic efficient arrangement.

Another service offered by Wright Transfer & Storage is mothproofing of overstuffed furniture, rugs, furs or clothing. This is done either at the home or warehouse.

Large Audience Watches Test of City Fire Truck

While a large number of spectators including city officials looked on, streams of water were thrown high into the air and far across the lake as the pumper from the central fire station, which recently has been equipped with a new motor was given the official test at McKinley park lake last night

Nozzles of various sizes were used as the water roared from the hose lines The test included the use of two lines four lines and the deluge nozzle Because of the shallowness of the lake and the inability to place the suction hose far enough beneath the water it was impossible to test the pumper to its full capacity, Fire Chief T. J McFarland said With this handicap however the machine was pumping 630 gallons a minute In a test at Crystal lake park several days ago the chief said, the pumper reached the 750-gallon a minute mark It is capable of pumping 800 gallons a minute, the chief said

With the expenditure of approximately $ 504, Safety Director Emery Murphy said, the city added to its fire fighting equipment a pumper worth $13,500 The former motor was put of commission several months ago when a crankshaft was broken while the department was responding to a false alarm The engine purchased 15 years ago was found to be obsolete and to make the necessary repairs would have meant an investment of nearly $1,000 with the engine still obsolete and the danger of additional breakage at any time

The entire work of installing the engine as well as the repainting and redecorating was done by the firemen the work on the motor being done by J B Yazel the department's mechanic It is expected the new machine will be put in service Monday

electorate were made last night by Karl Severing former Prussian minister of defense and Chancellor Von Papen who ousted Severing from office a few days ago

The chancellor's address was broadcast to the United States through the International radio forum founded by Ira Nelson Morris American diplomat

Treaty Gets Blame

The treaty of Versailles, he said was the chief cause of the fatherland's distress because it fostered radicalism of the right and left

A few hours before the chancellor went on the air his foreign minister Baron Konstantin Von Neurath told the French ambassador that when Defense Minister Von Schleicher threatened the other day to arm Germany if the other nations did not disarm he spoke for every member of the German cabinet and for the whole German nation

Former Chancellor Heinrich Bruening the tall silent question mark in the campaign was wildly cheered by 20,000 people last night as he addressed his last campaign meeting While Hitler flashed about in his airplanes and Thaelmann shouted among the Hamburg ships today Bruening the scholar remained in his study with his long black cigar and pondered the possibilities

Rioting continued to the last Hitler after a whirlwind tour of Aachen Frankfurt Am Main Wiesbaden and the Palatinate last night flew to Reutlingen to address a meeting. His Nazi adherents were set upon by a hostile crowd as they gathered to listen to him and police had to break up the fight with their clubs.

tions will compete in a kaleidoscopic whirl of sporting activity unprecedented in Olympic history

In their wake over a stretch of two unbroken weeks of action in 16 sports It is confidently expected Father Time and Old Man Distance will be left dizzily contemplating a veritable wreckage of records

The main attack on existing standards will be launched Sunday afternoon in track and field sports, long the blue-ribbon feature of the Olympics

Six Contests Scheduled

Six of the grand total of 23 track and field contests will furnish the chief attraction for perhaps 100,000 onlookers in the huge Olympic stadium Finals will take place in the high jump shotput and 10,000 meter run in addition to trials in the 100 meter dash, 400 meter hurdles and 800 meter run

The shotput world record should be blasted loose by either of the outstanding favorites Leo Sexton of the United States or Frantisek Douda of Czechoslovakia

The two series of 100 meter eliminations should indicate clearly just how high America's hopes may be raised in the attempt of Ralph Metcalfe George Simpson and Eddie Tolan to restore sprinting prestige lost by this country in the last two Olympiads

The high jump should be a sweep for the United States and the rugged young sons of Finland Iso Hollo and Virtanen figure to lead the 10,000 meter pack in the absence of their renowned compatriot Nurmi barred from the games on charges of professionalism two days ago

In both the hurdles and 800 meters the American entries figure to make a good showing

Battle Ahead for U. S

In fact the whole track and field prospect for eight consecutive days, presents the most rugged sort of a tussle for the Americans in their fight to keep the championship they have held ever since the Olympics were revived in 1896.

The United States seemed assured of no more than eight gold medals signifying first place winners Finland's inspired little band aroused by the banishment of Nurmi will exert every muscle to do as well Great Britain, Canada Germany Japan Italy and Argentina may also see their flags sent to the topmost victory pole at least once before the laurel wreath is placed on the marathon winner next Sunday afternoon Aug 7

As the American sprinters go so may go the general fortunes of the homebred forces Triumph in the 100 meters final, Monday for any one of the American trio will go far toward bolstering up the spirit of the entire United States team

Exodus of Tattered Troops Continues

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON July 30—Bonus seekers by the score carried on a strange exodus from Washington today, scattered by a never relenting fire and tear gas attack that made their once well organized camps things of the past

The tattered groups some marching some hitch hiking some getting rides in vehicles offered by adjoining states, were ushered out of the capital with a statement by President Hoover deploring an attempt to coerce the government by mob rule and expressing gratification that the challenge had been met "swiftly and firmly"

To see that the veterans really did stay out three companies of steel helmeted infantry camped on the scarred site of the bonus demanders once most active center—acres of low ground in Anacostia, a suburb

This camp like all others that had been busy as bee hives for months now is nothing but a ruin. It was burned to the ground.

Inquiry Proceeds

The justice department went ahead with its own inquiry into the violence that led President Hoover to summon the might of the army At the chief executive's request, the new sitting grand jury got ready for its study, charged by Justice Oscar R. Luhring to bring "to justice those responsible for this violence" those inciting it as well as who took part in acts of [illegible]

Police Again Handling Job

An end to the military phase of the capital's history making veterans incident today found police taking over the job again and insisting they could have handled it had they been left alone

Pelham D. Glassford police superintendent declined to retreat from his stand that the invasion by military had overemphasized the seriousness of the situation He reiterated that an order to him insisting that the bonus seekers be removed from federal property brought all the trouble

He made no apology for being lenient with veterans He denied he ever had admitted police were helpless. It was on that admission District of Columbia commissioners said in a statement to the President, that they based their requests for army troops.

Mr Hoover however, took a different position he said in a letter to district commissioners that the veterans "were undoubtedly led to believe that the civil authorities could be intimidated with impunity because of attempts to conciliate them by lax enforcement of city ordinances and laws in many directions

A result of the dispute was reports that Glassford would resign He denied them, though

Despite the arguments police went to work First they raided a meeting of radical bonus marchers arresting many Escorting a group out of the District of Columbia and holding 36 for questioning

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON July 30—An invitation to the United States to attend the proposed monetary and economic conference has been received by the state department from the British embassy It provides that reparations, debts and tariff rates are not to be discussed at the parley

The invitation says that among the monetary matters to be discussed is the question of silver No time or place for the conference was given

The state department has already indicated it would accept such a conference invitation provided that debts and tariffs were not on the agenda

China-Jap War Picture To Be Palace Opener

The world's premiere showing of the "War Correspondent" starring Jack Holt, Ralph Graves and Lila Lee will open the Palace theater next Saturday at 8 p m., it was announced today by Al Wolf manager

The opening program will include only one showing of the feature picture short subjects and music by the Palace Theater concert orchestra led by Bertram D Myers The orchestra will be retained for Sunday's matinee and night show, and the feature picture will continue through Monday night

The Marion theater will be opened Friday noon Aug 5, with One Man Law starring Buck Jones, and special short subjects

"War Correspondent is a love story with the recent China disorders as a background but is not purely a war picture Wolf said.

The program for the remainder of the week will include the showing of "Million Dollar Legs" a comedy story about the Olympic games on Tuesday Wednesday and Thursday Aug 9 10 and 11 and Constance Bennett in "What Price Hollywood" for the two following days

Wolf will manage both the Palace and Marion theaters for the Young Amusement Co, headed by A G Young, builder of the Palace who recently resumed management of the houses when the Paramount Publix Corp. withdrew from Marion Both houses have been closed several weeks

The young people of the Reformed church will be in charge of the union young people's meeting at 7 p. m. at Epworth. The meeting will be held in the Junior room.

Rev. Hucke will show in his sermon how the anemic and false religions not only of America but of the world, has brought the crash and ruin of the structure which man has been actively engaged in building for many years.

Dr. C. E. Turley, pastor of Epworth, will preside, and visiting ministers will offer the prayers.

Rev. Hucke will preach at 10:30 a. m. at his own church on "The Grace of Wholeheartedness."

What Is the Profit?

A SERMONETTE
BY JAMES W. SCHILLINGER
Pastor, Emanuel's Lutheran Church

Text: "What shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul; or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?" Mark 8: 36, 37.

* * *

THE great American educator and college president, Mark Hopkins, once said: "I am a spirit, I have a body."

Most men look at this matter in the other way. The important thing for them is the body. When they speak of themselves, they mean their bodies. Some of them indeed admit that they have souls; but for them the soul is a matter of very secondary importance. For this reason also men's greatest concern is to provide for their bodies. They are willing to let the soul look out for itself.

Without doubt Mr. Hopkins in the quotation given above had the spirit of Christ. The real man is the soul. It is the soul that thinks, feels, wills, accomplishes great deeds. It is the soul that loves, aspires to noble attainments, produces everything in the man's life that is really worth while. On the other hand, it is the soul, when debased, that produces in man everything low and vile. The fact that man is a soul makes it possible for him to become like God, or to bring himself down until he becomes a veritable devil. It is the soul that differentiates the man from the animal. It is the soul that makes man a moral being. The soul is the man. Man is not a body which has a soul; but he is a soul which has a body. Since the soul, which can never die, is the real man, the Savior can well ask the question: "What shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul, or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?" Jesus does not mean to tell us here, that we shall despise our bodies. They also are creatures of God and are precious in His sight. But He does mean to tell us, that our chief concern shall be for the undying soul. If we do this, God without any doubt will amply care for the body.

Granted then that the real man is the soul, we may ask: What is the soul's one great need? Answer: To be cleansed of sin, so that the man may stand forever in God's presence. Here God Himself has provided the way. He gave His own Son, to die on the cross, as an atoning sacrifice for man's sin. The blood of Jesus Christ, the Son of God, washes all of man's sin away. This is God's way to save sinful man, and there is no other way.

Sinful man, learn to know the value of your soul. In God's sight your soul is of greater value than all of the treasures in this world. Then learn to know the marvelous way which God has provided to save your soul from sin, namely through the blood of His only begotten Son. Then give your soul to the Son of God, so that He may be your Savior. Let nothing stand between you and your Savior. What will it profit you, if you gain the whole world, and lose your soul; or what can you give in exchange for your soul?

Marion Ministers Turn Thoughts Toward Travel

Marion ministers are beginning to turn their thoughts towards vacations and a few weeks of rest after a year of conducting services twice each Sunday and once during each week.

Rev. Howard L. Olewiler will be absent from the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church during the month of August. He plans to spend his vacation in Pennsylvania.

An eastern visit has been planned by Rev. James M. Fisher, director of the Lee Street Presbyterian church, if Mrs. Fisher's health permits. Sunday will mark his last services at the church for several weeks.

Rev. Karl W. Palow of the Prospect Street M. E. church, who has been spending a week at Lakeside with his family, is expected home Monday. In his absence there will be no Sunday morning services at the church. The congregation will join in the union services Sunday night.

Rev. E. C. Poltorf of Fite Memorial Baptist church will preach Sunday morning at Trinity Baptist church. Rev. Lawrence A. Wood, pastor, will be gone for several weeks, visiting in the east. Rev. Poltorf's subject will be "The Reward of a Christian." Sunday night he will preach at his own church on "Christian Faithfulness."

Rev. J. W. Schillinger of Emanuel's Lutheran church returned recently from a two week's trip through the east, visiting points of interest in Pennsylvania, Washington, D. C. and Virginia.

$100,000 ASKED IN DAMAGE SUIT HERE

Lew H. Ford Files Action Against Insurance Firm and Representatives.

A $100,000 damage suit charging slander and libel was filed in common pleas court yesterday by Lew H. Ford of 671 Cleveland avenue, former Marion jeweler, against the Ohio State Life Insurance Co., U. S. Brandt, its president, E. G. Seifert and Fred Hoch, Marion agents, Paul H. Schwemley, Marion cashier for the company, and Walter A. Robinson, a state insurance actuary.

On March 20, 1932, the defendants entered into a conspiracy to libel and slander him and to destroy his ability to sell his type of life insurance, Ford charges. Brandt, he states in the petition, denominated him as a "twister," and defined "twister" in a pamphlet as "a clever rogue and nothing more than a white-collared bandit." Brandt also attacked his integrity, he charges.

Seifert and Hoch advised numerous prospective purchasers of insurance in Marion county that the Pure Protective Life Insurance Co. of Cleveland, which he represented, would soon go out of business and that Ford would be refused a renewal of his license to sell insurance in Ohio, according to the petition.

Schwemley is charged with stating at Caledonia that the agents of the Pure Protection Life Insurance Co. were a "nest of crooks." Robinson, as a state insurance actuary, made the statement that the company did not practice the business of writing life insurance and that its agents were nothing but "twisters" whose sole purpose was to prey on old line legal policies, according to the petition.

All these statements were fraudulent, untrue and false, and were known to be so when the defendants uttered and published them, Ford declares.

The law firm of Carhart, Warner & Carhart and J. H. Eymon represent Ford.

My Beauty Hint

BY ANITA PAGE

NOW that we are asked to smile away the depression we must see that our smiles are pleasing

Sparkling teeth are needed for this genial expression and tooth pastes and powders will keep them white of texture But a further measure of protection is needed

Soft foodstuffs fail to give the gums the necessary work to do causing a lack of the red blood that keeps the teeth letter perfect

To counteract this choose hard breads in place of the soft breads found on most menus Munching crisp toast or the dry rye crisp

Farm Women To Install Officers

OFFICERS will be installed when Mrs. S. R. Stowe entertains members of the Marion county Federation of Farm Women's clubs Tuesday afternoon at her home at 330 Summit street. Fickle Folks

YESTERDAY'S breeze made one wish for something dark to put on and that combined with the music of those squeaky critters that sing their lay at eventide bestir one to memories of 30 days has September and you know the rest We are queer folks after all A dark frock yesterday if one possessed one would have been something of a change and there would have been a kick in wearing it but who doesn't remember when we were all steamed up over wearing something dark and vowed we would never peep about the weather no matter how hot it got if only it would warm up so we could wear out last summer's hold overs

Emancipation

AND speaking of clothes we are told in the fashion centers the male of the species are breaking out in suits of lovely greens or whatever shade their fancy dictates And now the wonder of it is that they did not do it long ago Imagine all one's life to rotate brown blue black gray in one's wardrobe with a summer suit of white thrown in for contrast To be sure there would be disadvantages for surely the matrimonial barque would start tossing should friend husband decide to wear the salmon pink suit the day the missus would choose to don the royal purple frock It's a lovely chance for someone however

Manners

WE feel sorry for the ponies whose lives are just one race track after another and who seem to work so very hard when it comes to the last stretch But maybe they don't mind the clanging of the bell the shouting of the starter and who knows but what they are just human enough to really enjoy the plaudits of the crowd At least we believe one little bay Miss Winnipeg did when she was brought before the grand stand for a little ballyhoo on her achievements Thursday night She was all that Emily Post might ask when it came to manners and when the speech was through and the crowd cheered there were those of us who thought she took just the nicest kind of a bow

"SOCIETY GIRL" TO PLAY AT OHIO THREE DAYS; OPENS SUNDAY

Society Girl which will show at the Ohio three days starting Sunday brings James Dunn Spencer Tracy and Peggy Shannon in featured roles

PEGGY SHANNON

The picture was based on a play by John Larkin Jr and was directed by Sidney Lanfield who made Dance Team the James Dunn-Sally Eilers picture

Jimmy Dunn plays the role of a prize fighter He trained several weeks for the fight scenes and performed creditably but, coming off the ropes he bounced into a terrific right hand wallop of Tom Moore's that removed a few ribs from their mooring The injury, while painful was not serious and Dunn was soon at work again.

Peggy Shannon was hailed as a second Clara Bow when she entered pictures, but her roles to date haven't been the Bow type. And now Clara is ready for her come-back in talkies.

When To Bid High or Not at All

Original bids of two under most systems are made on hands of great strength Such an offering on one suit of exceptional length and nothing much else is deceiving

With such a hand it would be far better to preempt with a bid of four in a major or five in a minor than to bid two A preemptive bid often will shut out opponents when they have possibilities of game or a part score

On the other hand an original bid of one and a game demand bid of two will certainly cause partner to count on high card strength that the hand of the original bidder lacks and trouble will ensue

Here is a hand from a game in which M F Coleman White Plains N Y took part

West led the ace of diamonds which was trumped by south The nine of spades went to east's queen and east returned a diamond south again trumping South then led a club which west's lone king took South then lost another spade and another club being set one doubled not vulnerable

If west had bid four spades originally the chances are that west would not have doubled and north certainly should have bid But with south's original bid of two north very properly assumed that south had plenty of high honors. It was his duty to show the heart suit and indeed rebid hearts if necessary

A one spade bid originally by south likewise would have warranted north in bidding and rebidding hearts or jumping to four hearts immediately

As a defensive measure the result to north and south as actually played or if four spades had been bid originally was worth while since east and west could have made a part score in diamonds at the worst Indeed they could have made game in no trump provided east were the declarer which would prevent hearts being led

An Ugly Mood.

It was too much to hope that the bonus marchers in Washington could be dispersed without violence and bloodshed. From the moment the first group reached Washington there was potential danger. Tact, amounting in many cases to downright submission, was practiced by police throughout.

The ugly mood manifested in Thursday's altercation between Washington police, later fortified by federal troops, and the veterans should mark the disruption of bonus camps in Washington. Other means have failed. The offer of transportation and expenses did not take the men home. Considerate treatment did not move them. As happened once before when a group of men settled itself in the capital, force was necessary to disperse them.

There has been wide approval of the intelligent handling of the situation by Washington police. The nation has asked that the marchers be treated as considerately as their actions permit, and they have been. There was deep apprehension, however, concerning the probable turn of events when congress had adjourned and the hopelessness of the demonstration became apparent to all concerned.

That apprehension was more than justified Thursday afternoon when men attacked each other with intention of murder. It is no pleasure for citizens of a democracy to subdue their brothers and neighbors by physical force, under threat of injury and death, but it had to be done in the interest of government. In any other capital in the world the bonus marchers would have been evicted by military force after their first demonstration.

Senator Watson Hints.

In the face of Senator Watson's latest pronouncement on war debts there can remain no doubt that the United States is suggesting a first step to Europe. Mr. Watson, leader of the Republican party in the senate and a member of President Hoover's party council, was not talking to hear the sound of his voice when he said, "It is their (Europe's) first move on the checkerboard and that move should be one of actual disarmament."

This is a trial balloon sent up with two purposes: to test the direction of the wind in Europe and to test public opinion at home. Unlike Senator Borah's recent speech, there is every reason to believe that it was sponsored officially. Prominent Republicans with records of party regularity will be sparing of their words on this touchy subject. The administration will need to be sure of itself.

Initiation of action by European debtors, in addition to being the logical beginning of a final effort to settle the question, would be advantageous to this country. Europe must be the supplicant, if there is to be any kind of a bargain. Americans are being encouraged to speak their opinions on what kind of a bargain an adverse settlement of the debts in return for a reduction of armaments would be.

Few of them will be able to see that it is any bargain at all, unless an international conference can devise some way to stimulate trade. True, reduction of armaments would release vast sums of money to be spent in other ways, but unless Americans can be convinced that a considerable portion of it will be spent in this country, they will not accept it as a valid reason for writing off the debts.

Unfortunately, the issue is developing in such a way as to raise the suspicion that this country, realizing the debts are uncollectable, is willing to take a meaningless premium for release from a hopeless situation. It can not force collection and it can not profit from a settlement in proportion to the loss that the debts represent. The ghosts of the World war are becoming more active and troublesome with every new attempt to lay them.

Upturn.

There are signs aplenty that Americans have quit hitting themselves on the head with the depression hammer. They are discovering, more of them each day, that they feel better without their favorite indulgence of the last two years.

In their conversation they talk about this and that sign of improvement—not big signs nor infallible signs, but cheerful signs. They tell about Jones, who surprised them a day or two ago by being definitely hopeful about his prospects. They relate stories about what is happening here and there over the country to warrant better feeling.

In their newspapers and magazines they read analyses, reports and stories which convince them that, however dark their own outlook is, the sun still is shining in other localities. They are told that livestock farmers marketing their hogs and steers are smiling for the first time in years and to save themselves they can not help but be glad that there are signs at last of the upturn for which they have waited. Even those who habitually take all good news with a grain of salt are running out of salt.

Latest of the good signs is an increase in wheat quotations, another foundation stone in the complex economic structure. It adds to the new spirit of hopefulness engendered by cheerful news from all quarters, a spirit reflected by such words as these in the conservative Bradstreet Commercial Review. "Sentiment in business and finance has improved. Taking the best in all there is more cheerful sentiment than has existed in a long time and indications are for a slow but steady gain. Money conditions are improving."

Predictions were made in the spring that there would be an upturn in the middle of July. More cautious predictions were for the autumn. There can be no question but that the upturn is here. Americans, like people who have waited long for the sunshine after the vernal equinox, are looking at their problems with new vision.

Festival of Sport.

How the ancient Greeks would gape if they could see what has happened to the festival they used to enjoy at Olympia. Tricks with compound interest could be no more astounding than the increase in athletic interest that has piled up since early in the eighth century B. C.

There could be no better time than the opening of the ninth revival of what has come to be known as the Olympiad for recognizing a certain Frenchman, Baron de Coubertin. Unknown to most of the Americans who will follow events in Los Angeles during the next two weeks, the baron is responsible for the modern revival of the games.

He is still living, an honorary president of the Olympic games committee. Reminiscent of the fine idealism which prompted him to broach the revival in 1892 is a statement made a few days ago. Americans, mindful of their duties as hosts this year, should examine it with interest. It represents the real purpose of the world assembly of athletes.

> I am confident that the United States of America will present the world with a spectacle which will be unique in the annals of athletics (said Baron de Coubertin.) To the American nation I would say "Here is your chance to further the cause of world peace. The visit to Los Angeles of the finest sportsmen of every country gives you a unique opportunity to establish and cement cordial relations on the finest possible footing. Sportsmanship is bigger than frontiers. The visiting athletes sail in ships which carry different national flags at their mastheads, but their objective is the same. They come as friends to give their best in contests which for romance and virility are not even transcended by the jousts of King Arthur's knights. You are reputed to be the most hospitable people in the world; here is your chance."

To California, to the great city of Los Angeles, belongs the direct responsibility for making the ninth modern revival of the Olympic games an unqualified success. Nothing that money can provide has been overlooked; never has there been finer equipment. The nation at large, however, must help in providing certain of those intangible qualities which money can not buy. The eyes of the world will be upon this nation for the next two weeks, watching carefully for the national reaction to the spectacular events that will take place in Los Angeles. Little things will count as much as big ones; Americans must be careful of their words and actions.

How the eyes of Coroebus, who won a famous footrace in 776 B. C., thereby becoming the first recorded victor in the Olympic succession of great victories, would bulge out if he were privileged to sprint down the cinder lane at Los Angeles. And what a disappointment it would be to the mighty Greek to realize that he and his companions, hard as they tried, didn't succeed in doing much more than tapping the possibilities of speed and endurance in the human body. Even the women do pretty well these days, he would have to admit.

M. Guillotin's Pet.

Tastes differ—even tastes about fitting ways to be executed. Americans, who accept the electric chair and the hangman's noose without much objection, unhesitatingly condemn the brutality of execution by a firing squad, poison, starvation or that ghastly instrument conceived by M. Guillotin in the 18th century and which even yet bears his name.

Dr. Paul Gorguloff, the demented Russian who snuffed out the life of the French president, Paul Doumer, screaming an imprecation on the state for condemning him to die in the steely embrace of M. Guillotin's pet is understandable to Americans. Still, they wouldn't choose what he wanted to be granted as an alternative—a firing squad. Most of them wouldn't, that is. American citizens still are executed by gunshot.

Due to glorification of the soldier, death at the hands of a firing squad retains a doubtful essence of glamor, even for criminals. It is interesting to note that Italians convicted of indulging in activities dangerous to continuation of the dictatorship, though executed by rifle fire, are allowed no glamor. Unlike brave men, they die sitting down in chairs, with their backs to their executors.

In the United States, fortunately, the manner of death inflicted by order of society is less important than death, itself. However inflicted it is unmitigated disgrace, despite valiant attempts to throw some glamor around it. The highly mechanized process of the electric chair, which is a greater fulfillment of M. Guillotin's wish for a machine removing the human element as far as possible from the execution, is a grisly symbol of the machine age. The French author of mechanical death would be proud of it.

Comment of the Press

WILL CITIES KEEP GROWING?

It costs nearly as much to take a box of oranges from a railroad terminal in Jersey City across the Hudson river to Manhattan and place it on sale at retail as it cost to gather the oranges in California, sort and pack them and ship them across the continent.

This comparison is made in Harper Leech's "The Paradox of Plenty" to illustrate the high expense that is involved in our intricate systems of distributing goods to consumers and particularly in the extreme congestion that exists in large cities.

The waste of power in operating elevators in high buildings, in pumping water to the tops of these buildings and in lighting rooms that are darkened throughout the day by high buildings is mentioned as another cost that increases disproportionately as a city grows.

Facts such as these are being taken into consideration by city planners today. It may be well that we have reached the peak of intensive urban development, with its accompanying evils of congestion and slums and its problems of health and transportation, and that suburban and small city growth is to be the [illegible] of the coming era.—Columbus Citizen.

BY DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND.

Chronic Cough? Probably Have Bronchiectasis!

Chronic bronchitis is common, and too often neglected. In many cases the true nature of the trouble may be overlooked. Today I want to tell you about a condition called "bronchiectasis," which is often confused with bronchitis.

Bronchiectasis is a stretching of the bronchial tube, and it is more common than is suspected. It follows any injury to the lining of the bronchial tubes and, because of the persistent cough and profuse secretion which accompanies it, is often mistaken for chronic bronchitis.

The cough in bronchiectasis is spoken of as chronic and productive cough. The afflicted person brings up large amounts of thick sputum, often having a disagreeable odor and occasionally containing blood. The cough is spasmodic. Pain is rarely present, but the afflicted individual complains of shortness of breath.

While an X-ray examination readily reveals the stretched condition of the bronchial tubes, it is often difficult to make a diagnosis of this disease without the X-ray picture.

Bronchiectasis may be found in children, or in adults at any age, but it most frequently occurs between the ages of thirty and forty. It usually follows repeated colds or persistent under-nourishment, and sometimes appears after one of the acute diseases of childhood.

Occupation plays a role in this disease. Continued exposure to irritating dust or chemical vapor, producing a chronic irritation and inflammation of the lining of the bronchial tubes, may result in bronchiectasis. Persistent and neglected cases of bronchitis also may lead to bronchiectasis.

The disease can be successfully treated only when recognized in its early stages. Predisposing causes such as focal infections, chronic colds, faulty diet and unhygienic surroundings, must be corrected before any success in treatment can be expected. Change of climate is beneficial in most cases, but is not always necessary.

Some persons are born with a tendency toward this disease, which then is spoken of as "congenital bronchiectasis." In these cases extreme care and attention must be given to building up and developing the body. Plenty of fresh air, sunlight and nourishing foods and prevention of nose and throat infections are necessary for the welfare of such individuals.

Highlights of Ohio History

BY J. H. GALBRAITH

YELLOW CREEK.

Yellow creek, a small stream emptying into the Ohio river near the northeastern corner of Jefferson county, bears an important part in the history of Ohio.

The first armed force to penetrate the Ohio country—that of Colonel Bouquet—made its way along the banks of this stream. That was in 1764.

On the banks of Yellow creek, near its mouth, was the cabin of Logan, the Indian chief. It was from this home that Logan's relatives were invited across the river into Virginia where they were murdered by Greathouse and his associates, thus laying the ground for the war Logan determined to wage against the whites.

Out along Yellow creek in 1778, Colonel McIntosh led a force of troops to the Tuscarawas, establishing Fort Laurens, the first fort to be built within Ohio, and Fort McIntosh—following, no doubt, for much of the way the trail that Colonel Bouquet cut in 1764. What interesting events there have been on the banks of Yellow Creek.

CEMENT GARDENS.

Gardens of the future may require no weeding or cultivating. The surface of the ground being completely covered with a hard substance, with occasional openings for plants to grow through, there will be no place for weeds to sprout. The department of agriculture is now experimenting with permanent mulches of cinders, concrete, zinc, iron and other materials. Though the investigation is yet in its infancy, being an outgrowth of the successful paper mulch experiments, many interesting results have been recorded.

Tests made on beans, peas, strawberries and various other small fruits have established the fact that these plants grow as successfully under the permanent mulch as with the usual type of cultivation. In some parts of Japan strawberries have been grown between blocks of cement or stone fitted about the plants. This method has been used for several years to force the fruit for mid-winter market.

The department of agriculture has shown that soil covered in 1928 has continued to be productive. Blocks of cement a few inches thick and nine by twelve on the surface cover the ground, with but one and one-half inches between. This covering is found to conserve the moisture, besides eliminating the weeds and all necessity for cultivation. By painting the blocks black, or coating them with asphalt, they are made to absorb more heat than would a lighter color, besides retaining warmth longer in the fall and heating the ground earlier in the spring. Rainfall is able to reach the ground through the rows between the blocks. Though these experiments are incomplete, the possibilities already revealed are interesting and important.—Washington Post.

Oxygen tanks to revive birds that may be overcome have been invented to be attached to cages in which British miners carry canaries to detect the presence of mine gas.

New York Day by Day

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, July 30.—Well, here I am on my annual spree at Coney. My wife sticks in the car, reading—cool and distant. She doesn't think an old fool, such as I, has any business looping-the-loop, shooting-the-chutes and bumping-the-bumps. She doesn't appreciate my Youth. My élan.

But I can take it! Nothing is too dare-devil for me when I feel full of the Tid Ned. Yippee! Happy Fiscal Year! Bring on your excitement. See that swing for life over yonder. Watch me hop into that as soon as I finish a couple of rides on this roller coaster.

Here we go Up! Maybe this will take me out of the red. Down we whiz. Around this break-neck curve with me leaning out careless like. And holding only with one hand. I'm on my own! The little lady in the seat ahead has the heebie-jeebies. I'll pat her shoulder. The dirty look I got.

Grr-rrupp! Now we come to a dead stop right on the highest peak. I hope nothing has happened. There are yells from down below. I must act calm. Women and children first. Still there's only one woman in this car and she's mad at me. I'll turn the other cheek. Don't look now but I think that is an ambulance coming.

If they send up a rope ladder, I'll let her climb down first. My Life doesn't matter. I'm old and palsied. Look how my hands shake. Go right along Madam. You probably have dear ones waiting. I've only a wife who doesn't realize I'm just a big overgrown boy.

Why don't they do something about that? I've been here a minute already. I should be starting for town. They ought to know they can not keep a busy man up in the air this way. Up in the air. That's a hot one. No matter the situation, I can always joke.

* * *

What a sucker I was to go whizzing about in this thing. I'm always a push-over for something idiotic. It seems made of a few pieces of twine, an old skate strap, Confederate money and some of Aunt Ida's cast-off lace. That young fellow in front rather looks like Gene Tunney right through here. You know, side view. There are only two people in the car behind. They have stopped right on a slope. I slope everything is going to be all right. It's a bum joke. But do I know what I'm doing?

I suppose my wife wonders why I don't come on down. She'll feel pretty bad when newsboys race by screaming—"Ex-tree! Extree!" I suppose they are spreading a net below. I can't even jump off a car without biting my tongue. But it will be my luck to get my feet caught in the take off and dangle in the air. And my new fountain pen and everything falling out of my pockets. Headline: "Famous Lasso Roller Coaster Dangler."

* * *

The lady in front has quieted down and gazes unperturbed at the crowds. She should have brought along her knitting. O, I suppose anyway they've just run out of electricity for the moment. I suggest that to the lady so she wont worry. "It may be, Madam, they have just run out of electricity." She replies: "So what?" Getting snappy, eh? I'm always shooting off my kisser at the wrong time. My pan is closed from now on. What would Lincoln do in a situation such as this? Remind me to study electrical engineering when I get back to earth. And dust off the chimney corner chair. If I ever get to it, I'll give it a rocking it will remember. At my age zipping up and down in a Coney Island roller coaster. Anybody want to patty-cake with the 48-year-old nit-wit? See, I'm not scared. Like fun I'm not. I'll sue the company, that's what. O Nathan Burkan!

* * *

The young men are talking to the lady in front. "Isn't it fun?" they ask. And she says "Lou." That's editing copy right down to the bone. One stingy word and she is all washed up. She'd make a good wife for some one. Speaking of wives, I'm certainly glad I didn't persuade mine to come along. Imagine her here, after a long coaxing, and this happening.

* * *

Zip, we have started up again like a flash! And my neck was almost unhinged. My side hurts. Suppose a big crowd will be waiting at the bottom to applaud. I'll be nonchalant. Here we are. Nobody has noticed a thing wrong. Facing death bravely and not even a cheer. Even my wife has not looked up from her book. I expected her to be in the middle of the street praying and wringing her hands.—Copyright, 1932, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

The Marry-Go-Round

BY HELEN ROWLAND.

WE MODERNS.

After a few years, it may be a strain on a man's mind to remember his wedding anniversary. But no matter how many wedding anniversaries a modern divorcee may have, she never forgets to drop a little flower of memory on each of them.

After a little summer dalliance, a man often goes back to his wife, just as a woman "goes back to Mother," for protection and moral support.

The secret hope of every fond father's heart, these days, is to hand his unmanageable daughter over to a pure, sweet young man who will break her of her wild ways and "make a woman" of her.

Daily Talk to Parents

BY ALICE JUDSON PEALE

"IF I WERE A BOY."

The teacher had asked the class to write upon the theme "If I were a boy" and 9-year-old Elsa handed in the following:

"I would rather be a boy than anything in the world. Then I could climb trees and come in dirty and late to meals and mother wouldn't scold.

"And father would think I was wonderful the way he does Bob. He would take me with him when he goes fishing and he would treat me as if I was somebody—not just a girl. And mother would fuss over me and she wouldn't expect me to sew on my own buttons. I hate to sew.

"When I was grown up, I would flirt with all the girls and they would be crazy about me, but I wouldn't care for any of them. I would go everywhere and have a fine time."

At home Elsa has a brother, two years older. Her wish to be loved as he is and her jealousy of what seems to her simply the advantage of his masculinity have sharpened that frequently present wish in a girl—to be a boy.

(It is instructive to note that out of 21 girls in Elsa's class 19 depicted in bright colors the advantages of being a boy.)

Little girls whose brothers are favored by both parents often blame their femininity for their troubles. If the sense of deprivation, of playing second fiddle, is strong enough, such a girl may quarrel all her life with the fact that she is a woman.

She will be partially or altogether incapable of loving a mate and she will be seeking constantly to revenge herself upon men for her feeling of inferiority.

"It's no country for a woman like you you would hate it. Flies and heat and discomforts."

Sondra wrung her hands.

"What can I do? What can I do?"

She unlocked a drawer in her writing table and took out Mark's portrait—his eyes smiled back at her questioningly.

She tried to remember the happy hours they had spent together. But it seemed so long ago—almost like a play she had once sat through and enjoyed and had begun to forget.

He was so many miles away and yet he was her husband and her place was with him.

She stood for a long time staring at his pictured face and slowly it seemed to grow into the face of a stranger.

If she went out to him—the thought snapped and she let the photograph fall back into the drawer as she whispered the truth to herself at last. "I don't want to go."

And yet it was only a few weeks since she had stood on the platform at the pier and felt as if her life were at an end.

"Am I mad?" she asked herself in despair. "Why don't I love him any more? Why don't I want to go to him?"

The telephone rang sharply and she crossed the room to take down the receiver.

It was Beatrice girlish and frilly as ever in voice and manner.

"Darling, is it true that Flora's left poor Ben? I've heard such wild rumors. And whom has she gone with? Of course I've denied everything everybody has said but do tell me—"

Sondra spoke with an effort.

"There's nothing to tell. She's only gone to the south of France for a holiday and Ben is going away on business. We are shutting the house up for a time that's all—" she managed a laugh. "What nonsense people do talk, don't they?"

"Darling, I'm so thankful—" Beatrice was not in the least deceived but she pretended to be. "It would have been so frightful for you wouldn't it, if it had been true? Whatever would you have done? And where are you going as it is?"

"I shall stay with friends and then later on I shall be going with you to Massachusetts."

"Darling it's too sad—but you know we're not going after all. Mumsie's cut up rough about going north—she never was keen and so the whole thing is off. I'm so frightfully sorry."

"You needn't mind on my account," Sondra said lightly. "I shall be able to accept another invitation now one I meant to refuse. But I'm sorry for your sake—aren't you disappointed?"

"Well not really." Beatrice always underlined her words when she was particularly insincere.

Modern Schools Hand Out "Credits" That Nobody Is Cashing, Will Says

BY WILL ROGERS

SAY any of you that have kids in schools, either grammar, high or College it dont make any difference but can any of you parents get head or tail of what they are doing, what they are taking, what they are learning? This whole education gag has sure got me. I cant tell from talking to em what its all about. All the kids I know either mine or anybodys none of em can write so you can read it, none of em can spell so you can read it, cant figure and dont know geography but they are always taking some of the darndest things, political science international relations, dance, tuck dancing, sociology, [illegible] greek art. Oh Lord the things they go in for runs on by the hour.

But as I say not only our bunch but none of em that I have seen can write, spell, figure, or tell you what bounds Coles. Everybody has swimming pools but nobody has got a plain old geography. Swimming pools to the right of you and tennis courts to the left of you but not a spelling book in a car load of schools.

Credit System a Mystery

Then they got another gag they call "Credits." If you do anything that [illegible] minutes twice a week why you get some certain "Credit." Maby its lamp shade tinting, maby its singing, maby its a thing they call "Music Appreciation" that used to drive my cowboy son Jim pretty near Nuts. He never could see how that would aid you to rope a calf. They give out these things at schools for anything that anyone can think of. Some of em you get more "Credits" than for others. If a thing is particularly useless why it gives you more credits. There is none at all for the things that we thought constituted School.

You could write, read, spell, figure and give the capitol of Rhode Island and they wouldent give you a "Credit" in a year. But you tell where a Latin word was originally located and how its been manhandled and orphanhandled down to the present day and say they will claim that you have the nucleus of a "Thesis" and you are liable to get a horde of "Credits." Now who cares about the word or what it has contributed to the welfare of Nations that never minds to them.

You have got yourself the family tree of a word. Course you cant go out and get a job on it but these old professors value it mighty highly. Some of these days they are going to remove so much of the "Bunk and Hooey" and the thousands of things that the schools have become clogged up with and we will find that we can educate our broods for about one-tenth the price and learn em something they might accidentally use after they escaped.

Old Folks Do Their Best

But us poor old dumb parents we just string along and do the best we can and send em as long as we are able, because we want them to have the same handicaps the others have. We dont know what its all about we just have to take the teachers word. They all say education is our salvation but you could turn ten college presidents loose in a forest with nothing to eat or anything to get it with and then ten old so called ignorant backwoodsmen and your presidents wouldent last a week.

The smarter a nation gets the more wars it has. The dumb ones are too smart to fight. Our schools teach us what the other fellow knows but it dont teach us anything new for ourselves. Everybody is learning just one thing not because they will know more but because they have been taught that they wont have to work if they are educated. Well we got so many educated now, that there is not enough jobs for educated people. Most of our work is skilled and requires practice, and not education.

But none of these big professors will come out and tell you that our education might be lacking, that it might be shortened, that it might be improved. They know as it is now that its a Racket, and they are in on it. You couldent get me to admit that making movies was the bunk either. None of us will talk against our own graft. We all got us our Rackets nowadays.

Evenly Balanced

There is just about as much "Hooey" in everything as there is merit. The heathen live with less effort and less worry.

Trying to live "Past" our parents, and not "Up to Em" is one of our drawbacks. The old Chinese got the right idea along that line. But ever once in awhile some fellow does pop up and declare himself. Look at that college professor in Chicago University. He said our learning system was all haywire.

He is a smart young fellow that guy. I heard him speak at a dinner in Chicago during the Convention. He knew a whole lot more than just where a lot of words come From. This education is just like everything else. You got to judge it by results. Here we are better educated (according to educational methods) than we ever were. And we are worse off than we ever were so its not living up to its Billing. Its overated. Its not worth the price.

Its costing us more than its worth. They got to devise some way of giving more for the money. All he is getting out with now is "Credits" and nobody on the outside is cashing em.

TURNING NEW PAGES

WITH EDNA B. DUTTON

ANDY KEEP and Mollie the girl he marries to save his father from financial embarrassment are the central figures around which Jane Abbott has written a charming romance of youth and modern marriage. The novel is a delightful bit of summer reading wholesome enough to be entertaining and with a plot, that in spite of the fact the reader is well aware it must turn out right keeps the book in hand until page 318 is finished.

Andy Keep out of college and home from a trip finds him interested not in hilarious parties but not particularly anxious to go into his father's business. He is interested in Virginia Seldon whom he has met on his trip and after a scene in his father's office in which it is proposed that he marry Molly he dashes out determined to marry her.

Molly daughter of the close friend and one time partner of John Keep has been given but one year to live by an expert physician who has diagnosed her case as an incurable heart ailment. Molly's life has been spent roaming the country with her father and always in the best of schools wherever they chanced to be located. After the death of her father she makes her home with an aunt and some cousins where she is none too welcome and where she does not seem to fit. It is Andy's mother who takes her to the specialist and later to the Keep farm where she Andy's mother knows she will regain her health. It is here Andy asks her to marry him and the wedding follows almost immediately.

At Molly's camp in the Adirondacks which was home to her father Andy and Molly begin their honeymoon and soon meet their neighbors Dr Alexander a quiet, understanding man and his sister Eve not easily hoodwinked by the ways of the world. The four soon become friends and it is in Dr Alexander and Eve that Molly finds comfort after Andy hurries to New York upon receipt of a belated letter from Virginia. Molly misjudges Andy's purpose and when he fails to return sets about to free him from the marriage. Andy, in the meantime has gone to work in his father's factory, beginning at the bottom where he proves a favorite with the men.

Through Dr Alexander Molly's health is regained and the story comes to a climax at Molly's wishing well.

"Mrs. Taylor" Is New Book on List

A NOVEL which Alfred A. Knopf is announcing as "the book that describes a certain type of American woman as Sinclair Lewis Babbitt described a certain type of American business man" will be published on Aug 15 under the title of "Mrs Taylor." It is the work of Marjorie Worthington. "Mrs Taylor" is actually a picture of American suburban life, the publishers say. Mrs. Taylor herself is a woman who has just been widowed, and the story covers the first year of her life alone and attempts to show what happens to such a woman at such a time.

Lorain Man's Poem Is Historical Epic

THE romance of "Lourell the Indian girl and her lover is interwoven in an epic poem written by John Milburn Harding of Lorain and published in observance of the Washington Bicentennial celebration and the 150th anniversary of the coming of civilization to Ohio.

Mr Harding who is a poet author and attorney calls his poem "Lourell the Indian Maid." The book is beautifully bound in a bronze colored jacket with the design of two Indians on horseback against a background of hills. Illustrations reproduce interesting places mentioned in the poem.

* * *

THE poem tells of the wanderings of a small group of Moravian missionaries and their Indian converts on a long pilgrimage that took them far from their newly made homes and brought them to the mouth of what is now the Black river where they settled for a short time in their long search for peace and quiet.

The leader of the party during its stay in what is now Lorain was David Zeisberger. He was the first white man to attempt a permanent settlement where Lorain now stands. His associates were William Edwards and John Heckewelder.

Despite the fact that 150 years have passed since the events described in the poem, there is today as a result of the author's efforts, a memorial park and monument near New Philadelphia in honor of that valiant band who died so unjustly.

The 90 victims of the pioneers wrath were converts of the Moravian missionaries who made their first Ohio settlement in 1772. The poem is presented in four parts and the scenes are laid in the valleys of Tuscarawas and Sandusky rivers and by the shores of Lake Erie the Detroit, Thames, Huron, Cuyahoga and Black rivers. The death of Colonel Crawford is told in the story along with other historic facts.

Scientist Writes Children's Story

HERBERT McKAY, author of "Noah and Rabbit" is an Irishman of Scotch descent, who was educated in Yorkshire and has lived his life in London. He has written mostly on science and mathematics. He is happiest he says when teaching little children and writing for them. "Noah and Rabbit" was read to an audience of the small people for whom it was intended. Anything that was not understood and unappreciated was at once cut out. The result is that both Noah and Rabbit live in their quaint and amusing little world without any disconcerting adult conceptions to trouble them. The book is illustrated by Grace Lodge and the publishers E P Dutton & Co describe it as a Nursery Mystery.

"Sad Indian" Is Story of Mexico

"SAD INDIAN" by Thomas Williamson is a story of Juan an Indian of pure blood who leaves his village to sell maize in the city and to enjoy a fiesta. He has been free. When he comes to the city he finds himself caught in a net of many strands. There is Concha the girl of mixed blood, there is drink, sour milky pulque more dangerous than whisky. And there is Miguel the mestizo the arrogant proud aristocrat that represents the master class. There is drama and color in the novel, a fall publication of Harcourt Brace & Co.

"Judy" Is Story of Adventure

"JUDY" a juvenile story by Shirley L. Ferton tells how Judy who lives on the Maine coastline seeks a hidden treasure with the aid of a map. Certainly if she had foreseen how disastrously the midnight treasure hunt would end she would never have been a part to it. But the map looked genuine and she had nothing to lose and everything to gain if there really was treasure where the chart indicated. The book is published in the fall list of Harcourt Brace & Co.

Madge In Her Distress Over Dicky's Jealous Rage Takes Counsel as Usual with Her Closest Friend Lillian Underwood

FOR an interminable second after Lillian had told me Dicky was talking to Harry in their sitting room I stared at her in bewildered unbelief.

"He can't be," I stammered. "He went out of here slamming the door so hard he woke some of the people. One of them opened a door to listen. And when I rushed into the corridor after him and called his name I heard the outside door slam. No he left several minutes ago."

"I'm not disputing you on that point," she said and through my daze I realized that she was talking to me in the tone she would use toward an unreasonable child. "He did leave but he met Harry coming back from a session with Hugh and they came upstairs to our room for a few last words."

A Right to Tears

"I don't know that there's anything new. I didn't stop. I was on my way over here as a sort of coming up for air. I've had one tangerine of a session with Helena and I don't mean maybe. She's quiet now for a few minutes I guess so I thought I'd run over here for a minute's rest."

"And found somebody else ready to drain your strength and sympathies," I said bitterly, and with a swift feline motion she slapped my cheek, lightly, but still distinctly a slap.

"I'm not in any mood to listen to stuff like that," she said. "If Dicky is in the form he used to be you have a perfect right to dissolve into tears."

"Used to be—that's just the thing that's killing me," I said. "Do you realize how long it has been since he did anything like this? Not even last Christmas when—when he—

Dicky's Jealousy of Hugh

Smashed that exquisite silver and crystal flower container that Phil Veritzen gave you?" she finished for me. "No. I'll admit, he was most artistic in the way he made that appear to be an accident. But then, Phil is something else again than Hugh, and his [illegible] this morning was about Hugh wasn't it?"

I stared at her.

"How did you know?" I asked. "Did Dicky—"

"You know better than that," she said reproachfully and I flushed guiltily. For indeed I did know that Dicky would not have named to anyone save me his jealousy of Hugh. "But I don't have to take off my reading glasses to get a slant on the Dicky bird's reactions. So while you're waiting for him to dash in here for a remorseful farewell suppose you sweep me the dust about the affair. From the glimpse I had Dicky and Harry won't get through chinning for another five minutes at least. So shoot the works! That is if you want to. Far be it from me to butt in."

"I do want to," I said hurriedly, knowing that Lillian had some good reason for the butting in which usually is her most active aversion. I did not quote Dicky's insulting words but I told her enough so that she realized what it was that he had demanded of me.

I saw her eyebrows knit as I told her of his query as to whether no mothers would be available to accompany the rescue party, and she patted my shoulder affectionately when I told her of the promise I had made not to go with the men if either Lillian or Helena could go, the promise that had been the spark touching off the powder of Dicky's temper.

"He's off his nut with jealousy of Hugh," she said when I had finished, "but that's no excuse for his pulling a stunt like that. However you know the Dicky bird. He always has a second thought, bless his darned old heart. If his ship had been anchored off the veranda he'd have taxied off immediately and been 60 miles away by now. But as it is old Mr R E Morse has him by the collar and you'll see him tiptoeing his way in here pretty soon, full of contrition and all set for an affectionate farewell. So I'll be going, and leave a clear field for him. But remember, don't—"

Lillian's Secret

She stopped suddenly and had reached for the door in hurried flight before I gathered my senses enough to question her.

"But what?" I asked.

"But, nothing," she answered turning the doorknob. "I sure spoke out of turn that time. I didn't mean a thing."

"Oh yes you did." I sprang toward her. "Tell me this second."

The Stars Say—

For Sunday, July 31

SUNDAY'S horoscope is a rather unimportant one with affairs moving serenely along on the conventional order of the day. There may be a tendency to inertia, possibly depression or introspection. Beware of small losses and write cautiously.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year in which all depends upon their own abilities and initiative. The planetary incitements are rather negative although predisposing to inaction introspection or melancholy. Be careful as to trivial losses and sign all writings with caution. A child born on this day may be given to confine its interests to home activities with affectionate regard for home ties and elderly persons. A gentle introspective nature with not much worldly ambition.

For Monday, Aug 1

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for a day of great excitement, commotion and surprising adventures possibly in connection with the private or emotional life. It may be a disruptive condition with particular dogged opposition to the cherished hopes and wishes. However, with extreme sagacity and perfect tact there may be some benefits both business and personal.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate an exciting year with events and experiences of a sudden and revolutionary nature possibly in the realm of the emotional life. But with wise action there may be some benefits or satisfactions. A child born on this day is likely to be rebellious, restless, unconventional and unmanageable [illegible].

K.-P.'s Close to League Flag After Beating Kappas, 4-2

ST. PAUL STOPS ERIE FOR SURPRISE WIN; PRESBIES ALSO COP

Maury Whitcum Gives Up One Hit as Masons Down Prospect, 2-0.

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK
Sports Editor, The Star

Mathematically speaking, the K. of P. softball team didn't clinch the pennant yesterday in the Commercial league. However, if there is anyone willing to wager the lodge organization doesn't capture the Friday league flag, there are plenty of fans who will be willing to cover most any suggested amount on that basis. The Kay Pee nine booted the Kappas practically out of the titular picture by grabbing off a 4-2 victory and running their lead to a full game and a half with three games remaining on the schedule. There is little hope that the remaining opposition can stop the fast-moving lodge nine.

The Masonic lodge, now that they are out of the pennant race, made another good showing by taking the measure of Prospect behind the stellar flinging of young Maury Whitcum. The two surprise victories of the afternoon came when St. Paul's Episcopal, loser of nine straight previous games, dropped the Erie Traffic club with a 4-0 whitewashing and Presbyterian A. C. slipped the skids under Serv-U-Wel by a 5-1 count.

The K. of P. ran into all kinds of opposition against the Kappas but finally won out by a two-run margin. Roscoe Rank went the route for the losers and gave up only seven hits good for the four Kay Pee tallies. However, his seven-hit job pales into insignificance alongside of the two hits allowed the Kappas by Don Lindsey. Lindsey allowed the losers their two hits in the fourth inning. In all the rest he was untouchable.

Maury Whitcum turned in the best pitching feat of the day when he held the Prospect Firemen to a single hit and beat them 2-0. Dutch Lauer, the Prospect pitcher, got the only safety off Whitcum. Lauer was nicked for nine hits by the winners.

The Serv-U-Wel Grocers found the Presbyterian A. C. much tougher than expected and came out second best. The Grocers collected only two hits off Joe Castner and Dick Morgan. The winners bumped Johnny Vestal for four safeties and made them count for five runs.

Claude Perry's homer with one on provided the high spot of the St. Paul victory over the Erie Traffic club. The winners outhit the losers 5-3 but couldn't get their hits when they meant anything.

20 TEAMS IN FIGHT FOR DIAMOND CROWN; 6 TILTS FIRST DAY

Thirteen Cities Represented in Second Annual Battle; Games Start at Noon.

Twenty teams from widely scattered parts of the state will launch a five-week struggle Sunday at Lincoln park to decide the 1932 softball championship of Ohio. Twelve of the 20 teams will play six games in the first round Sunday and the remainder of the entry list will swing into action for the first time a week later. The Linden Gophers of Columbus captured the tournament crown last season but will not play in the tournament this season on account of injuries suffered by their star pitcher, Doc Stith, in the state office building blast some months ago. The Gophers have challenged the tourney winners to a three-game series as Stith will be able to pitch within three weeks.

Marion, Newark, Mansfield, Lancaster, Columbus, Findlay, Tiffin, Lima, Willard, Toledo, Lorain, Springfield and Fremont are represented in the tourney. Marion has a total of five teams competing for the $75.00 which will go to the winner and the $25 which will go to the runner up team.

First Game at Noon.

The first game will start Sunday at 12 noon between the Montgomery Ward nine of Marion and the Pharis Tire & Rubber company of Newark. Newark played here once before this season and has a fast, hard-hitting aggregation. The Montgomery Ward team is an all-star combination. Gene Gunder and Frances Robbins are slated to do the mound work.

At 1 p. m. Prospect park of Mansfield and Johnson Cleaners of Lancaster will play. Mansfield played as Yuncker's Sports here some time ago and presented one of the best clubs seen here this summer. "Speed" Geltien will do the flinging. Lancaster comes here with a fine record for the season.

At 2 p. m. Smith's Clothiers of Marion will play the Hi-Frank garage of Columbus. Freddy Vestal and Jack Ling are listed as the Clothier's first string pitchers. The team is composed mostly of youngsters who have been going at a fast clip in the city leagues this year. The Hi-Frank garage is rated as one of the better Capital city combines.

Findlay vs. Columbus

The Prager Clothiers of Findlay and Columbus Safety Cabs will clash at 3 p. m. in what should be one of the day's highlight battles. Findlay has a crack aggregation and the Safety Cabs have been riding at a rapid rate all season.

At 4 p. m. the Equity Union creamery of Lima will battle the Fountain Drugs of Columbus. Don Lamphar will toil on the hill for Lima.

The final game at 5 p. m. will see the McGowan Arcades of Tiffin crossing bats with the Marion Paint company. The latter team is practically the same as the fast Lee Street combine of the No. 1 church league.

Each game will start promptly as scheduled and will go seven innings.

Foxx, Waner Hard-Pressed in Race for Batting Leads

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 30—A quartet of players who had been ruled off the pace in the major league batting races made their bids this week among the holders of the higher batting averages.

While Jimmie Foxx of the Athletics, unchallenged major league leader this season, and Paul Waner of the Pirates, whose place at the top of the National league appeared about as secure a week ago, dropped, Don Hurst of the Phillies, Frank O'Doul of Brooklyn, Heinie Manush of Washington and Smead Jolley of the Boston Red Sox made a concerted attack on their positions.

Hurst captured the first citadel, the National league lead, a couple of days ago and after yesterday's games he had a .359 average, only a point behind Foxx. The Athletics' ace lost eight points during the week. O'Doul, picking up eight points, was second in the National league at .354 and Paul Waner, who lost 13, was third at .350. Manush and Jolley gained nine points apiece to trail Foxx with marks of .347 and .343 respectively.

Completing the "first tens," somewhat altered in both circuits were: NATIONAL LEAGUE, Klein, Phillies, .345; L. Waner, Pirates, .342; Stephenson, Cubs, .338; Ott, Giants, and Traynor, Pirates, .333; Lombardi, Reds, .332; Herman, Reds, .328; AMERICAN LEAGUE; Gehrig, Yankees, .359; Walker, Tigers, .334, Cramer, Athletics, .333; Ruth, Yankees, and Cronin Senators, .329; Averill, Indians, and Combs, Yankees, .327

Hurst also captured the National league lead in batting in runs with 97 to Chuck Klein's 95.

With Vernon Gomez of the Yankees taking it on the chin twice, Monte Weaver of Washington assumed the American league pitching lead with 16 victories and five defeats and Charley Ruffing of the Yankees took second with 12 and 4. Steve Swetonic of Pittsburgh held the top of the National league list with his 11-2 record unchanged while Lonnie Warneke of Chicago pressed him hard, winning two games for a standing of 16 victories and three defeats.

SIX FILLIES NAMED IN LATONIA OAKS

By The Associated Press

LATONIA, Ky., July 30—The summer racing meeting comes to a close this afternoon with the 28th running of the $5,000 added Latonia Oaks.

Of the six fillies named to run the mile and a quarter, the likely favorite seemed to be Commodore Willie Sharpe Kilmer's Suntica, which won the Kentucky and Illinois Oaks. Suntica will carry 126 pounds to the others' 118.

Befuddle holds the track record, 2:02 2-5, set in 1924.

3rd RECORD BROKEN AS RACE MEET ENDS

Winnipeg Steps Mile in 2:07 3-4 To Cop Free-for-All Pace in Short Ship Finale.

Leaving a trail of scattered track records in its wake, the four-night Short Ship racing program of the Marion Driving club came to a close at the fairground oval last night. The meet will be the only Short Ship meeting of the summer here and the only horse racing of any kind outside of the county fair speed program.

Three records were broken during the four-night stand of the speed merchants here, one track mark falling twice. The first record to fall was the pacing mark. On Wednesday night, Wilma, owned by the Miller stables of Newark, stepped the mile in 2:08 flat to clip a quarter second off the existing mark. Then on Thursday, Bray Stout of the Stout stables of Clarksburg, W. Va., surprised race fans by beating the night track trotting record with a mile in 2:08¼. Last night Winnipeg brought the races to a grand climax by reeling off a mile in 2:07¾ to again shatter the track pacing record and set a mark that is likely to stand for some time.

Winnipeg was entered in the free-for-all pace when he did his record breaking mile. Six other entries, including Joe Lewis, crack Kenton horse, were entered for a race with the world's champion pacer. The Palin-driven horse stepped out and captured the event in straight heats and was never given very serious competition by the rest of the field. Joe Lewis placed in seventh in the first heat and was then scratched. Abbe Helr pushed the winner hard enough in the second heat to force him to set a new track record to stay ahead but even then the race was not exceptionally close.

Earl Pluto ran away with the honors in the second race, the 2:20 trot, sweeping all three heats without meeting more than average opposition. This bay gelding driven by Walton, breezed around the track in comparatively slow time in two of the three heats but finished in front of the pack on all three trips.

Martina Armstrong met some serious opposition at times in the 2:11 pace, the final event of the meeting but nevertheless managed to come through with the old gold silks of the S. B. Suttro stables of Cryden, Ind., leading the parade. Junie Pluto and General Brewer both put up a good battle against the winner but neither was able to nose her out on the stretch. With the first pace impossible the two proceeded to put on a terrific fight for second money, the laurels going to Junie Pluto.

COLUMBUS CAPTURES DOUBLE START FROM LOUISVILLE COLONELS

Birds Back in Race, Clipping Half Game Off Millers' Lead.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 30 — A lot of major league managers who are trying to rally their men to catch the Pirates and Yankees would like to discover what kind of dynamite Billy Southworth is feeding his Columbus Red Birds.

All was chaos in the ranks of the Red Birds when Southworth got a call to do some rescue work July 11. He took charge with his flock in full rout and then straightened them out so quickly that they have charged right back into the thick of the American Association pennant race.

They continued their merry pace yesterday by taking a doubleheader from Louisville's Colonels and drawing up to within one game of second place and six and one-half games from the top. Minus the services of their long distance clouter, Pat Crawford, a victim of a split bone in his left hand, the Red Birds dropped the Colonels, 6 to 4, in the afternoon and then polished them off 7 to 3, under the arc lights. Phil Weinert held the enemy to four hits in the first engagement and Grabowski allowed but six in the night game while Southworth's men cracked out a two-game total of 25 safe blows.

Minneapolis only lost a half game, however, as the Millers blasted two Milwaukee pitchers for 17 hits and a 13 to 8 victory. They produced their runs in job lots, scoring four each in the second and seventh innings and five more in the eighth. Ernie Smith led the attack with a home run, double and single, driving in seven runs.

Indianapolis ran into Winegarner, Toledo ace, in another night game and lost one of the best played games of the season, 1 to 0. Winegarner allowed but three hits and his mates pushed over the only run of the stirring pitching battle in the eighth. Campbell and Heving hurled for the Indians.

Kansas City broke the fourth place tie with Milwaukee by taking another close one from St. Paul, 2 to 1. Smith gave the Saints but five hits and might have scored a shutout except for three errors. The victory gave the Blues possession of fourth place by nine percentage points over Milwaukee.

CAREY VS. COLUMBUS

Donelson Semi-Pros To Tackle Fast Colored Team Sunday.

Don Donelson's Semi-pros of Carey will cross bats with the Columbus Travelers Sunday afternoon at Carey in what is expected to be a tight battle. The Travelers are members of the Southern Colored association and are in second place. They are expected to push Carey the limit to continue its fine record of this season. Manager Donelson has put his club through stiff workouts all week in anticipation of a tough contest.

Harve Ferner will again be on the mound for Carey.

FONSECA'S FATHER IS SERIOUSLY ILL

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 30 — Chicago's White Sox may be without a manager during the rest of their current home stand against the east.

Manager Lew Fonseca's father is seriously ill at his home in California. The White Sox pilot may leave for the west coast at once. Fonseca left Thursday night for a tour of the American Association ivory fields before hearing of his father's critical condition.

Crawford Retains Top in Association Batting Race

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 30—There was no unusual cannonading on the American Association batting front during the week, and all but one of the individual leaderships remained in the same hands.

Pat Crawford, Columbus' first baseman, retained his batting leadership with an average of .382, as well as continuing ahead in base hits and total bases. He had 164 hits for 254 bases. Ever Swanson, another Red Bird, continued to lead in runs batted in with 96, and by stealing five bases took the lead away from Herman Layne of Louisville with 34. Layne's total was 33.

Joe Mowry of Minneapolis held the lead in scoring with 113 runs. His teammate, Joe Hauser, remained at the peak in home runs with 35. Odell Hale of Toledo got no more triples, but his total of 14 held good, and another pair of doubles by Bill Knickerbocker, another member of the brood, kept him in front with 42.

Crawford led Swanson by 17 points in the individual race with the following regulars in pursuit: Mike Powers, Toledo, .360; Nick Cullop, Columbus, .350; Ted Gullic, Milwaukee, .355; Eddie Pick, Kansas City, .350; Mowry, Minneapolis, .345; Art Ruble, Minneapolis, and Ernie Wingard, Indianapolis, .340, and Hale, Toledo, .339.

Bill Lee of Columbus, was credited with one victory during the week, leaving him at the head of the regulars with 13 victories and 1 lost. Ruse Van Atta of St. Paul had 14 victories, but had dropped eight decisions. Paul Dean, of Columbus, continued as the leader in strikeouts with an even 100.

Columbus had a team batting mark of .318, to lead Indianapolis by 15 points. St Paul remained best in fielding with an average of .975, and had completed 135 double plays.

To Play Caledonia.

The Oakland All-Stars' baseball team will play the Caledonia Indians Sunday afternoon at the Shovel athletic field here. The game is called for 2:30.

HACK WILSON'S CLUB PROVES BIG HELP TO BROOKLYN BALL CLUB

Robins Again Thump Cards, 7-4; Cleveland Cops Series by Beating Yanks.

By The Associated Press

They laughed early in the season when Hack Wilson planted his piano legs before the plate at Ebbets field and couldn't hit a lick, but the waning days of July find the Martinsburg bomber in a fair way to become a hero in Brooklyn.

The Chicago cast-off got away to a poor start with Flatbush fans. But he has made a grand comeback in the last two months. He finally boosted his batting mark over the magic .300 figure yesterday, leaving him second only to Lefty O'Doul among the club's hitters, and his total of 83 runs batted in is topped in the National league only by the two Phillie sluggers, Klein and Hurst. He has belted 18 home runs and 23 doubles.

Batting in the clean-up position yesterday, Wilson smashed a home run and a double to drive across three runs and scored a pair himself to feature the Dodgers' 7 to 4 victory over St. Louis.

The Pittsburgh Pirates poured another salvo into the floundering Giants, scoring four runs off Adolfo Luque in the eighth inning to win, 4 to 3. As Chicago was held idle by rain, the Pirates increased their lead to six games over the field.

Ed Holley kept nine hits well scattered to give the Phillies a 5 to 2 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds.

Cleveland made it three out of four over the Yankees with a 4 to 3 victory.

Al Thomas scored his fourth consecutive victory over the St. Louis Browns as Washington pounded out a 10 to 6 verdict. Aided by Red Kress' home run, the Chicago White Sox nosed out Boston 4 to 3, their first win of the four game series.

Philadelphia and Detroit were not scheduled.

JUVENILES TO MATCH STRIDES IN FUTURITY

Crack Field Entered in Rich Arlington Closing Feature Today.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 30—Arlington park's $700,000 stake-a-day racing program closed today with a field of the fastest stepping juveniles of American turf matching strides for the last big pot of gold, the fifth Arlington futurity.

Ten stars from the two-year old class were named for the inaugural running of the six furlong event which had a gross value of $56,116. It was the richest juvenile race ever offered outside of Maryland and New York. A record throng of 55,000 spectators, lured by a dollar gate, was expected.

The withdrawal of Crowning Glory, Mrs. John Hay Whitney's champion two-year old, turned the race into almost a grab bag affair. The Whitney "kid," rated as an odds-on choice to win the big stake, went lame during his final workout and was shipped immediately to Saratoga. In the wake of his departure, Ladysman, owned by W. R. Coe, became the favorite. He was coupled with two other Coe juveniles, Orphean and Pericles.

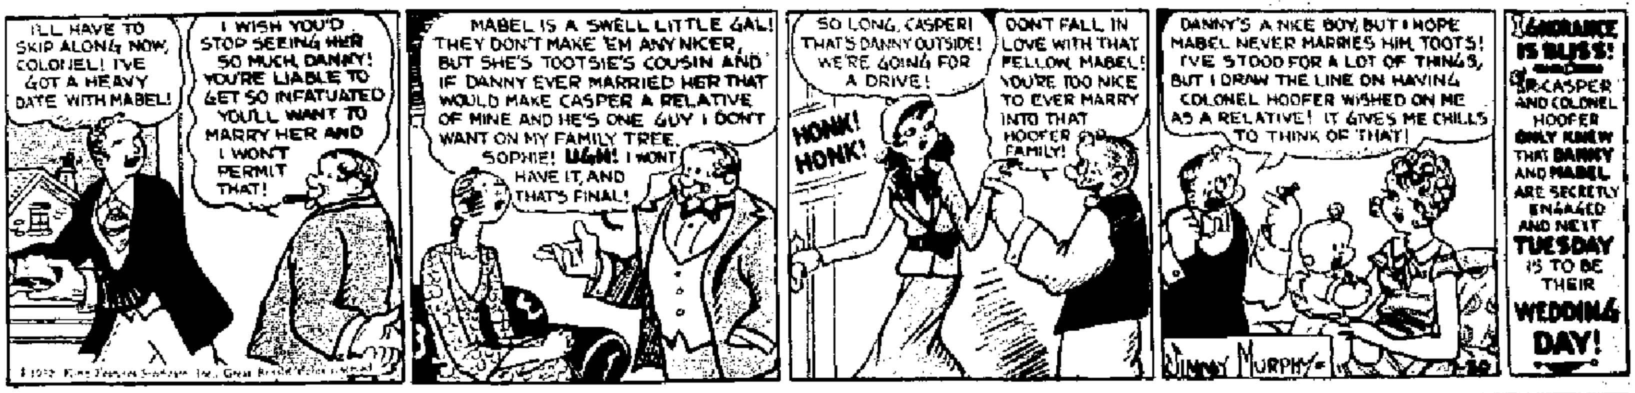
TOOTS AND CASPER

BY JIMMY MURPHY



I'LL HAVE TO SKIP ALONG NOW, COLONEL! I'VE GOT A HEAVY DATE WITH MABEL!
I WISH YOU'D STOP SEEING HER SO MUCH, DANNY! YOU'RE LIABLE TO GET SO INFATUATED YOU'LL WANT TO MARRY HER AND I WON'T PERMIT THAT!
MABEL IS A SWELL LITTLE GAL! THEY DON'T MAKE 'EM ANY NICER, BUT SHE'S TOOTSIE'S COUSIN AND IF DANNY EVER MARRIED HER THAT WOULD MAKE CASPER A RELATIVE OF MINE AND HE'S ONE GUY I DON'T WANT ON MY FAMILY TREE, SOPHIE! UGH! I WON'T HAVE IT, AND THAT'S FINAL!
SO LONG, CASPER! THAT'S DANNY OUTSIDE! WE'RE GOING FOR A DRIVE!
HONK! HONK!
DON'T FALL IN LOVE WITH THAT FELLOW, MABEL! YOU'RE TOO NICE TO EVER MARRY INTO THAT HOOFER FAMILY!
DANNY'S A NICE BOY, BUT I HOPE MABEL NEVER MARRIES HIM, TOOTS! I'VE STOOD FOR A LOT OF THINGS, BUT I DRAW THE LINE ON HAVING COLONEL HOOFER WISHED ON ME AS A RELATIVE! IT GIVES ME CHILLS TO THINK OF THAT!
JIMMY MURPHY
IGNORANCE IS BLISS! IF CASPER AND COLONEL HOOFER ONLY KNEW THAT DANNY AND MABEL ARE SECRETLY ENGAGED AND NEXT TUESDAY IS TO BE THEIR WEDDING DAY!
